Winemaking

The coupage process is carried out once the wines have been made separately and aged in barrels. The winemaker is looking for the best expression of the variety.

Aging: 12 months in 160- and 225-litre French oak barrels, plus 12 months' storage in the bottle.

Tasting notes

A blend with great character. A deep violet wine, surprisingly bright over a black background. It leaves notable legs. On the nose there are notes of ripe black plum and hints of minerals and spices. In the mouth, the wine is elegant and expressive, with silky, velvety tannins. There are notes of chocolate and tobacco from its aging in French oak barrels.

We recommend decanting it for 30 minutes before serving.

Cellaring: 10 years
